

Greece sells various optical cables

Summary of Content

Greece manufactures and sells a wide range of optical cables through leading companies like Hellenic Cables, Dimoulas Special Cables, and Enertel, serving both domestic and international markets.

Key Manufacturers and Suppliers

Hellenic Cables is one of Europe's largest cable producers, offering submarine, power, and telecommunication cables, including optical fiber solutions for various industrial and infrastructure applications . Dimoulas Special Cables S.A. provides high-quality optical fiber and copper telephone cables, along with specialized cables for data, control, automation, and renewable energy projects. Their portfolio includes fire-resistant, halogen-free, and ultra-flexible cables suitable for industrial, commercial, and infrastructure projects . Enertel LTD promotes and sells advanced fiber optic products, including FTTH (Fiber To The Home) cables, pre-assembled cables, field-installable connectors, and FTTx solutions, in Greece and neighboring countries . Other notable companies include ELECNET S.A., which specializes in optical fiber network development and structured wiring systems, and OSP Contractors, which provides turnkey fiber optic network solutions .

Trade and Export Data

In 2021, Greece exported $15.5 million in optical fibers and cables, with major destinations including Bulgaria, Germany, Belgium, the United Kingdom, and Luxembourg . The fastest-growing export markets were Bulgaria, Belgium, and the UK. Greece also imported $27.2 million in optical fibers and cables, primarily from China, Germany, Austria, the UK, and India, reflecting the country's active participation in global optical cable trade .
