

How much does a composite cable tray cost in Haiti

Summary of Content

Composite cable trays in Haiti are available from local suppliers, with prices influenced by material type, size, and manufacturing factors, typically ranging from moderate to premium depending on specifications.

Overview of Composite Cable Trays

Composite cable trays are made from fiberglass-reinforced polymers (FRP) or hybrid materials, offering corrosion resistance, lightweight durability, and non-conductive properties. They are ideal for industrial, commercial, and outdoor applications where metal trays may corrode or pose electrical hazards. Common types include ladder-style, channel, and fully enclosed trays, each suited for different cable loads and environmental conditions.

Factors Affecting Price

- Material Composition: FRP trays are generally less expensive than hybrid trays with additional coatings like zinc-aluminum-magnesium, which provide premium performance.
- Size and Load Capacity: Larger trays or those designed to carry heavier cable loads cost more due to increased material usage and structural reinforcement.
- Supplier and Manufacturing Location: Local suppliers in Haiti, such as Jeetmull Jaichandlall (P) Ltd. and Brilltech Engineers Pvt. Ltd., offer competitive pricing, but imported trays may be higher due to shipping and import duties.
