

How much does a galvanized rainproof ladder-type cable tray cost

Summary of Content

The price of a galvanized ladder-type cable tray typically ranges from $2 to $25 per meter, depending on material, size, load capacity, and surface finish.

Price Overview

Galvanized ladder-type cable trays, especially hot-dip galvanized (HDG) ones suitable for outdoor or corrosive environments, are generally more expensive than simple wire trays due to their durability and load-bearing capacity. Standard lengths are usually 2.4 to 2.5 meters, and prices for these lengths can vary based on width, height, and steel grade. For example, bulk orders or industrial-grade trays with heavy-duty load capacity (≥ 500 kg per meter) may cost $1.50–$5 per meter in large quantities, while smaller or lighter-duty trays may approach the lower end of the $2–$25 range.

Factors Affecting Cost

- Material: Hot-dip galvanized steel is common for rainproof applications; stainless steel or aluminum is more expensive.
- Dimensions: Widths range from 100–1000 mm and heights from 40–100 mm; larger trays cost more.
- Load Capacity: Heavy-duty trays designed for industrial use are pricier than light-duty commercial trays.
- Surface Treatment: HDG provides long-term corrosion resistance and is more expensive than pre-galvanized or powder-coated options.
