

Nigerian Optical Splitter Manufacturer

Summary of Content

Nigeria has several optical splitter manufacturers and suppliers, including Tecom Concept Limited, Kocent Optec, and AALAS International Company Limited, offering PLC and fiber-optic splitters for telecom and data networks.

Key Manufacturers and Suppliers

Tecom Concept Limited Tecom Concept Limited produces and supplies optical splitters, also known as couplers or dividers, which are essential for distributing optical signals in passive optical networks (PONs). Their splitters enable cost-effective sharing of network infrastructure, supporting high-bandwidth services like internet, voice, and video across multiple subscribers . Kocent Optec Limited Kocent Optec provides high-performance Fiber-to-the-Antenna (FTTA) and FTTX solutions in Nigeria. They manufacture PLC splitters, tactical fiber cables, patch cords, and terminal boxes designed to withstand Nigeria's diverse climatic conditions. Kocent Optec also offers OEM/ODM services, allowing customized solutions for local telecom projects, including 4G/5G network expansions . AALAS International Company Limited AALAS International is a fully registered Nigerian company offering optical fiber splitters and related products. They focus on quality service and customer satisfaction, providing both local and export solutions for optical network components . Other Suppliers TradeFord Nigeria lists additional optical cable and fiber splitter suppliers, including Siloam Optical and MainOne Cable Company, which provide a range of optical accessories and infrastructure solutions for telecom and enterprise networks . Local marketplaces like Jiji.ng also offer fiber-optic splitters for smaller-scale or retail purchases .
