

Which manufacturer makes the best quality cold-galvanized cable trays

Summary of Content

MP Husky, Atkore (US Tray), Eaton, and Schneider Electric are among the top manufacturers of high-quality cold-galvanized cable trays.

Leading Manufacturers

MP Husky is a prominent U.S.-based manufacturer with over 55 years of experience, offering mill-galvanized steel cable trays that meet NEMA, UL, and CSA standards. Their products are widely used across industrial, commercial, and data center applications, known for reliability, strength, and cost-effectiveness . Atkore International (US Tray) provides made-to-order pre-galvanized cable trays built to NEMA standards and UL-certified. Their systems include I-Beam, channel, and wire basket trays, designed for easy installation, airflow, and long-term durability . Eaton Corporation offers ladder, trough, and channel galvanized cable trays with patented corrosion-resistant zinc coatings and modular designs suitable for industrial and commercial projects . Schneider Electric specializes in galvanized cable trays for harsh environments, including fire-resistant and seismic-rated systems, making them ideal for industrial and chemical facilities .

Cold-Galvanized (Pre-Galvanized) Considerations

- Indoor Use: Pre-galvanized trays are best for dry, indoor environments such as offices or factories. Typical zinc coating ranges from 12–20 microns, providing moderate corrosion resistance .
- Load Capacity: Ensure the tray supports the weight of your cables without sagging, following NEMA VE-1 or IEC 61537 standards .
